Dear Families,

What a wonderful end to the week watching 2HB's assembly. The children fluently and confidently expressed their messages about hope and perseverance from their learning about Pioneers. Thank you to the parents who came to watch, for your positive comments, I sincerely hope that the words of Malala Youseff "One child, one teacher, one book, one pen can change the world" continues to inspire our families and children to dream, believe and achieve. The voice of the child is so important at LHPSN. This half term I have been dropping in on lessons and talking to groups of children about their English lessons and workbooks. It's lovely to hear their feedback about what their teachers do well and what children can do, know and remember as a result of good teaching. I have been particularly impressed with the standard and quality of writing following the disruption children have had in their learning. The children I spoke with were so proud of their writing journey and final edited pieces, I know you will enjoy seeing their work books at parent evenings next month.

Classes have also held elections for Pupil Parliament this half term, thank you parents for encouraging your children to put themselves forward and helping them to prepare. Congratulations to all those elected, I can't wait to help you to put your ideas into action and see your ideas come to life!

Have a wonderful weekend.

Yours in Learning

Miss A Salisbury

Year 3 - Professor McGinty's

On Wednesday, both year 3 classes were taken back in time to 2550BC by Professor McGinty to investigate Ancient Egypt. Both classes were totally absorbed with his entertaining style, hilarious jokes and great explanations.

A highlight for most of us was the professor letting us examine some mummified artefacts and explaining in great detail the likely ingredients in bread during Ancient Egyptian times.
